Sliding, Folding Partitioning

How many of you have sliding, folding partitioning in your buildings?

How many of you realise that this is a piece of equipment which has to be maintained in a safe condition just like any other piece of equipment you use?

Under the Provision and Use of Work Equipment 1998 you must ensure that equipment which you provide for use is regularly inspected by a competent person, that repairs are made where necessary and that you have records of maintenance in the form of inspection reports and repair bills.

The frequency of inspections will be governed by the type of system you have installed and the amount you use your equipment. Your engineer will be able to advise you.

If you can't remember having your sliding, folding partitioning inspected; if you know it was done many years ago but haven't kept your maintenance up to date or if your equipment isn't working properly you need to take action. Contact us at info@nwconsultancy.co.uk and we will put you in touch with a professional partitioning engineer.
